WE APPEAL TO

all Princetonians who are anxious to share their Holidays with others — with others whose ways of life and almost unbreathed hopes for the future force them to dwell in the shadows where Christmas can be one more long, gray day.

Because Christmas, particularly in a world shaken by war and fears and besieged by nagging doubts, is a season for inner as well as outer joy, and because all too seldom do youngsters thirsting for happiness and a sense of belonging come to feel that Christmas can also be for them, TOWN TOPICS presents the following paragraphs for the entire Princeton community:

There are among us several dozen boys and girls who have been struck down as any of us might have been struck down. They range in age from toddlers to seemingly mature 'teen-agers and they could be rightfully called Princeton's "perplexed, or forgotten few." While their basic every-day needs, such as food, medicines, and coats and overshoes, are met by the established welfare services, what they need — and crave above all else — is the assurance that children are important, and never more so than at Christmas, and that grown-ups do not live for grown-ups alone.

Most often it is the inching paralysis of worry and uncertainty, whether forcing 16-year old David to seek solitary solace in unusual outlets or making the hours of darkness, including afternoon naps, a series of agonizing nightmares for a 5-year old, that is hard to define and even more difficult to resolve. The unseen problems of the individual child and the complicated relationships between human beings are crucial issues on which lives can be wrecked beyond salvage — unless, somehow or other, they are given the kind of thoughtful assistance and guidance which are fully as important as tinsel or bright lights, or laughter around the dining-room table.

A sad-eyed 24-year old mother, whose devoted husband died tragically a year ago in an airplane crash, is starting all over again following her recent discharge from a mental institution and her reunion with a 3-year old daughter, who feels that her mother is a total stranger and often becomes hysterically unmanageable in her presence. Step by step, aided by skilled counsellors, the two together are making headway. Diane is starting to speak in a normal pitch rather than to scream, her appetite in nursery school is improving, and her mother is edging away from the relapse doctors feared if the situation failed to improve.

In a family of seven children, with the mother doing day's work to supplement the father's marginal earnings as a laborer, the middle child — Paula, 9 — is gradually emerging from a world to which she had retreated to escape a helter-skelter household where there are always more people than space. Strangely silent, highly intelligent, and afflicted with nervous mannerisms associated with middle-age rather than with youth, this 9-year old, starting with sewing doll-clothes, is being carefully exposed to one activity after the next. Her school-work is improving and, with continued help, there is great hope for her future.

The grim spectre of mental illness, a phenomenon children find impossible to grasp, hovers over Mrs. A., a pretty, fragile woman, and George, 8, and Buz-zie, 4. Only now, as Mrs. A. struggles with the financial burdens created by her husband's prolonged hospitalization, is George beginning to realize that his absent father's irritations and outbursts were attributable to a horrible, creeping sickness and never to hatred. He is

ZONING TABLE

UNIVERSITY ASKS VARIANCE

Princeton University still does not have a "yes" or "no" on high-rise buildings. Township Committee took up the hearing on the proposed new zoning ordinance Monday night where they left off five weeks ago on November 1 and after listening to pros and cons for two and one-half hours, decided to table the ordinance for further study.

This meeting, in all probability, that the ordinance will have to be introduced and "re-heard" all over again after the first of the year.

Monday night's meeting was the Princeton community in a nutshell. There was the stout-hearted group of residents determined to "keep Princeton Princeton" with petitions to support them. There was townswoman tension. There was an articulate spokesman for the little man, pronouncing Princeton a "golden ghetto" where each of us is well come as residents.

There were Planning Board members, some of whom were on committees, working endless, thankless hours without pay out of sheer dedication to the town, and probably wondering if they were worth all this. And there was pleasant yet humorous "Does this new ordinance allow kids to build tree huts?" demanded George Warfield, 19 Longview, "Yes," replied Township Attorney Gordon Griffin with a perfectly straight face, "a tree hut is an accessory use to a single family dwelling."

Hoping for better luck with the Zoning Board than they have had with the Planning Board, the University's planners last week filed an application for a variance so that the University can do ahead with its controversial math-physics tower under the present ordinance. Waiting for the new ordinance equates loss of more than $3 million in Federal grants. Hearing will be held Thursday, December 16, at 8.

800 in Support. "We're not fighting the University, we're supporting the Planning Board," explained Mrs. J. H. Mathey, The Great Road, as she presented to Committee a petition bearing 809 names supporting the Board's position that 100 feet, not 170, should be the height limitation in the new ordinance.

Mrs. Mathey represented the Princeton Committee for Zoning Enforcement, one of whose members, Joseph Bachelder, 436 Riverside, reminded Committee members that the group is a legal corporation and not just "some ad hoc gathering." Gary C. Rensdorp, Province Line Road, president of the group also spoke. So did another member, J. H. Gilman, 73 Magnolia Lane, who said, in effect, "If we don't reject what a Planning Board recommends, why have a Planning Board?"

The Planners' Case. Gerald Breese, chairman of the Planning Board, is on the University faculty, and has had to obtain from any discussion or vote where the University is Variance?

The variance requested of the Township Zoning Board by the University concerns the "yard-to-height" ratio required by the present zoning ordinance.

In terms of feet, this means that to build a structure as high as the new math-physics building without a variance, the University would have to go back 250 feet from Washington Road. Plans for the math-physics complex were drawn to conform to the proposed new zoning ordinance, and so they are only 60 feet from the Washington Road. The building height involved is about 124 feet, at 10 feet per story, about 15 stories.

concerned, so the Board's vice-chairman, Hans K. Sander, made the presentation for his colleagues.

Reading a detailed, 10-page memorandum, Mr. Sander solemnly laid out before Committee the month-by-month, often weekly-weekly chronology of the Board's discussions with the University since last January.

The gist of his chronology: "The Planning Board has not had a consistent feeling of frank and open discussions in this matter, as claimed at the November 1 hearing. Most applicants come to the Board without having to be invited, which was not true in the case of the University's plan of 1963. The Planning Board feels that the record indicates clearly that representatives of the University who appeared before the board on that date must have known that the Board was not inclining favorably toward high-rise structures."

What happened on February 8 was this: The Planning Board has a member, who serves as liaison to the Zoning Board and he told the Planning Board that the University had come before the zoning board with plans for three-story towers for married graduate students. Without this liaison man, the Planning Board would never have known of the University's plans.

"It was felt to be extraordinary," Mr. Sander said in his memo that the University did not come in to the Planning Board with this plan for high-rise towers before arriving at the working-drawing stage, the stage at which they are ready to go out for bidding."

University Invited. So the Planning Board invited J. H. Moran, the University's Director of Physical Planning, to come in formally and talk the matter over.

Mr. Moran came, on February 8 but said his staff hadn't done all its homework yet, and that he would prefer to come back later with the married student housing, the math-physics complex and the athletic department "Cage" as well, when they were in a more definite stage of development.

When Mr. Moran appeared before the Planning Board on February 8 at the Board's request, Mr. Sander stated, "He was aware of the Board's adverse reaction to high rise structures." Mr. Sander indicated that the University originally planned to build the math-physics building in the Borough and to make it one, in 10 stories high.

What the Planning Board feels most strongly about is the University's policy of waiting to confer until plans are so far along — in the "model stage," frequently that alterations are almost impossible. Board members feel that they should have the chance to confer with the University right along, from the first schematic drawing.

University's Stand. The University's position was explained again Monday night. In the past, University prearrangements settling down in school, is no longer taking out his own frustrations by bullying smaller children, and is doing everything within his power to help his mother who, in her turn, is learning how to handle her children alone.

A mother and father in their late 20's and their bewildered, wonderfully appealing, daughter, 6-year old Ann, are slowly becoming friends and are beginning to understand one another. Last morning, Ann, bright and clean, service dress going to school, for the first time since one of her parents will be there when she comes home. With her father in the Armed Forces for the first five years of her life, and with her mother holding a needed, full-time job, life for Ann has been a lonely, lonely round of sties, distant relatives, and homes in the neighborhood. A teacher sensed Ann's desolation, her craving for security, and arranged for a guidance program which must succeed, if a family is to be saved.

Amount needed: upwards of $2,500 to enable the Family Service Agency and other community services to extend to citizens of Princeton the thoughtful and highly specialized help which will guide them through the maze of bewilderment and could well mean the difference between despair and hope, between apathy and faith in all of the things that count. These, and many, many other, need encouragement and some hope, understanding that will rekindle aspirations for the years to come.

THIS APPEAL IS MADE ONLY IN TOWN TOPICS. THERE WILL BE NO OTHER SOLICITATION OF ANY KIND AND NO ONE BUT YOU WILL BE ASKED WHETHER OR NOT YOU PESS THEM BY.

Cheques should be made payable to The Town Topics Christmas Fund and mailed to TOWN TOPICS, P.O. Box 101, Princeton, N. J.

architects, Alfred Busselle, 87 Lower Lane, supported the University's highest position, and eluded the Planning Board for producing a typical suburban ordinance "not directed to the unique community in which we live."

Pointing to the developments in the Township where the lot costs half the total price of the property ("$30,000 houses where four and five bedroom houses cost only $25,000 retail"), Mr. Busselle said he and his fellow architects were not at all sure that the best interest of the community were served by "maneuvering of precious land into expensive lots too big for the cheaper houses being built on them and too small for any other purpose."

John D. Wallace of the Planning Board, told Mr. Busselle the Board and the planning consultants had considered all the points he made.

Income is, Franklin, Salvatore Di Donato, moving out of the high-rise area, said he was disappointed that the Planning Board hadn't changed the proposed ordinance so that older people could convert their houses into apartments for extra income.

"You say Princeton is so wonderful," Mr. Di Donato challenged. "Well, it depends which window you look out from. Hedge Room or Henry Avenue. What about janitors, barbers, teachers and police? The town is a golden shell for people who can afford to live here. It is a practice of economic apartheid in Princeton, when you think of people making $2,500 to $7,000 a year and trying to buy a house."

Mr. Di Donato suggested that permits to convert a house to a two-family dwelling be restricted to home-owners over 65.

"We're still discussing this whole matter," replied Mayor Carl C. Schaefer, and Mr. Busselle added, "The Planning Board has an open mind on this subject."

Supporting Mr. Di Donato David Hapgood for PAHR said, "You speak of 'public interest' I question the 'public interest' of a policy which zones, plans and prices people out of the community."

The Education Industry. Support for the University came from Charles Spruill, 311 Witherspoon, representing Witherspoon residents opposing the setback provisions of the revised ordinance.

"The dye was cast long before we were born on what the major industry of Princeton would be—education," Mr. Spruill remarked. He added that many University graduate students must live in substandard quarters around town because there is not yet enough campus room for them.

The present Township Committee goes out of business on December 31, and unless its members act on the zoning ordinance one way or another by that time, the ordinance must be introduced all over again by the new Committee after January 1, even though there will be only one new man on Committee.

Most Township officials believe that the ordinance will indeed be put over until next year and that it may not even be acted upon until spring.

TO PLAN HIGH SCHOOL

Committee Named. The citizens committee that will lay plans for the new Township High School will hold its first meeting this Thursday.

George M. Grace, president of the Township Board of Education, announced this week the names of the 36 men and women who constitute the Citizens' Advisory Committee on the Township High School.

"Virtually everyone who was asked to serve accepted readily," Mr. Grace said. "This suggests a high degree of enthusiasm for the prospect of an outstanding new school in the Township."

Richard Pearson, president of the College Entrance examination Board and formerly president of the Township Board of Education, will be chairman of the new committee, assisted by Donald H. Riddle, Dean of the Faculty of the College of Political Science, City University of New York. Mr. Riddle is also a former member of the Township School Board.

Committee members were chosen because they represented various geographical areas and groups within the Township and many fields of

Skater's Lament

Will the ice
Support the blade?
If not, I guess
I'll have to wade!

The Weather Man has been teasing the winter sports enthusiast of L.A. just enough of a thin sheet of ice on Lake and Reservoirs to provide the suggestion, but not even enough to support a throw stone. Skating a bit in the future, the current temperature trend is toward milder weather. The skater will have to wait, but after all, it's still almost two weeks before the first day of winter.

860 SIGN PROTEST
Against Turnpike Road. West Windsor residents, 860 strong, have signed a petition against the New Jersey Turnpike Authority's plan to run a non-stop extension through the Township.

The petitioners are headed by a committee composed of Mrs. Bernice Tanton of Edinboro, Mrs. Dorothy Waldbauer and Mrs. Mary Wright of Dutch Neck, who have had the assistance of Township Committee member-elect William A. Stuart of Princeton Junction.

The committee states, "Residents of West Windsor Township have had no reasons or logical explanation of why there is this tremendous need for a road which, in the first place, was voted upon by the Legislature in 1954 to run from Robbinsville to Trenton. This route was and is supported by County officials and by the officials of Washington and Hamilton Township. The road would run through both these municipalities."

Copies of the petition have been sent to William Flanagan, executive director of the Turnpike Authority; Governor Hines; West Windsor Mayor Malohn Revel; Assemblymen Charles E. Farrington, Edward J. Sweeney and S. Howard Woodson; Freeholders Richard J. Collier and Arthur R. Sykes; and to County Engineer Louis Calvarelli.

The 860 signers state, "We fully support the efforts of our local and county representatives in opposing the alignment of the proposed Turnpike extension through West Windsor Township; we fully endorse the location of the Turnpike extension, as originally planned and authorized, through Hamilton and Washington Townships."

"Finally, we invoke the protection of law, which by tradition must not be allowed to serve the capriciousness of any agency, public or private."

"Chinese Wall" Residents quote Mr. Flanagan as stating that a Trenton-Hightstown alignment is "barely feasible economically" and question the expenditure of $24 million on the project. They note that 10% of the Township's taxable land has been lost for county recreation purposes and that "the further loss of land would create undue hardship on the Township."

This "Chinese Wall" will cause the value of property to decline, destroy homes and mutilate working farms, they state, as well as violate the major provisions of a hard-won master plan.

Nostalgia will reign, as students and alumnae buy carved wooden columns ("can't you just see it as a lamp?"), imposing columns ("can't you just see it as a... well, can't you just SEE it?") and hand-somely carved consoles exactly the right size for book-ends.

Old square nails from the building even be embedded in the paper for a paperweight (or whatever) and a model will be on display Saturday. Leave your order and it will be ready in time for Christmas.

Long portions of balustrade with balusters attached, steep molding, sections of state railing and stairway trim and several carved or pierced panels will also be available for alumnae with ambitious husbands. One small mantel—one only—will probably be sold off early in the morning. The next goods will go fast, too.

ADULTS, TOO?

"Nutcracker" Has All Ages. It takes more than kindergartners to make "The Nutcracker." Several Princeton adults will perform in the Princeton Ballet Society's annual Christmas production of Tchaikovsky's well-loved ballet when it bows on the McCarter stage Friday, December 17 at 8:30 and Saturday, December 18 at 2:30.

Arthur W. Liffman, McCarter's executive director, who was the Stage Manager for "Our Town" at Princeton Day School last month, will be the Father, L. Wendell Estey, husband of Andrew Estey who is the director of the Princeton Ballet Society, will play Drosselmeyer, the godfather. Lyman Miller, faculty member of Princeton University, will be a Parent, and so will Ralph Higgins of Trenton and Joan Lucas of Kendall Park.

TRIANGLE SHOW TO OPEN

Friday and Saturday, "High Society," the Triangle Club's 77th annual production, opens at 8:30 p.m. this Thursday at McCarter. The theatre is sold out for the Friday and Saturday night performances. The first run-through of "High Society" was held last week for the benefit of Triangle trustees, who have declared the show "possibly one of the best ever." Trustee Joshua Logan commented, "The finale, 'For Now the World,' is the best song I have ever heard in a Triangle show."

"High Society" is a revue with 22 scenes. "It is the Princeton undergraduates laughing at themselves and inviting you to laugh with them," Wheeler M. Thakston Jr., 67 says. According to the club president, Paul Pilcher, 66, the revue marks the beginning of "a second Golden Age of Triangle, comparable to the heyday of the 1930's."

IT'S NEW To Us

READY FOR 12TH NIGHT?
PLAN NOW! Twelfth Night, of course, is the night you take down the Christmas tree and pack everything away for next year, but you'd better plan right now, and make sure you get the decorations you want to save for another Christmas.

We have suggested elsewhere the idea of another kind of Christmas tree. For regulars who want the nice, old-fashioned kind, there are live trees from Obal's Garden Market, now located this year across the canal on Alexander Street. Spruce, hemlock and white pine would be just as attractive next summer outside as this Christmas inside.

At Ambleside Gardens, Route 202 near Belle Mead, they suggest hardy berries, to plant outside "after." Pine cones, wreaths and stars are here, and also the raw materials to make your own: dried plants, Della Robbia fruits and the like.

Beech pool balls, for $8 and $8.90 at Ambleside, are unusual additions to your Christmas collection. Pine balls are here, too, for a more conservative decoration. The pine balls come in three sizes on one string, and there's a cardinal attached. A bird, you know? Straw flowers and hanging ornaments at Ambleside are in snowflake patterns. Brookland Kreptanthus Tri-

Who's Kissin' Whom Under the Kissin' Bell?

Kissing bells are back again this year. Why were they ever away? Christmas decoration is as wide and free as your imagination, and here are some things to start you off right:

Red-berried Christmas tree. A potted red-berried pyracantha trimmed for size and shape, is a delightfully different Christmas tree. Keep it indoors all winter, take it outside next summer. Ambleside Gardens.

Styrofoam. Tree shapes, balls, stars etc. in styrofoam come with bags of glitter so you can make ornaments yourself. A direction book tells you how. Sofie Paint Shop.

Topiary trees. Red velvet trunk supports a three-foot "holly" tree with a blooming red velvet bow. It grows out of a gold flower pot. Brane.

Old-fashioned ornaments. Painted balls with shimmering feather tails, little Santa figures with low-relief painted faces, like the ones you had as child, w/out, not grandma. Country Mouse.

Doorknob covers. Santa, holly or "welcome" on red felt. Happy House.

Wee angels. A population explosion of minute angels, half-inch burries, pine-cone skiers, a 10-piece crochete for the plump of your hand, a carved wooden St. Bernard one inch long. Cummins Shop.

Bunnies eating holly. Lifeside, ceramic. Princeton Decorating.

Christmas tablecloth. 60 x 104 inches (smaller sizes, too), with the table pad to go under it, and solid red or green napkins. Markout.

Paper places, cups, centerpieces. Oblong or round, cups for hot or cold. Denkinson's centerpiece, Santa, or a white paper tree to match the eating. Hinkley.

Color. — there's a tree to put under your tree! It goes with the Norfolk Island pine at Cunningham's Nursery, Larchville, as a Christmas special. Do-it-yourself philosophers may take home dried flowers for arrangements, especially the tiny star flowers.

Gene Seal has a whole orchard of Jewish berries and poinsettias for your house and someone's else's.

ALL THE TRIMMINGS
Gold, Green, Glitter. A new shop, Brune Interiors at 247 Nassau, and two old friends, The Cummins Shop at 86 and Country Mouse at 164, are decorated with decorations all the way up to the rafters.

Brune has $1 matelote balls hung with red velvet ribbon from every possible site, and "holly" all over the place. Dark glistening leaves of this "holly" (it's an excellent fake!) come in branches for you to employ as you will, or formed, with red "roses" into charming little gold baskets (one is $5.95, others are up and down from there).

A hanging balloon of holly is suspended by five red velvet strings from your most conspicuous corner. Actually, the holly spills out from a golden basket which can stand on the floor, if there's no room for hanging. $27.

Buy a half-round of Brune holly and hang it against your front door by a rope of red velvet. Guests pull the velvet pull and a jangle of bells announces their arrival. A gold basket full of holly and red roses also has the red velvet jingle-bells pull. It's $13.

Your Christmas candle from Brune will be the small votive light that burns inside a Beach candle holder, a cylinder covered with red or olive velvet and adorned with holly and gold: $4.95. For $2.50, you may have a red candle in hurricane shelter surrounds.

drawn three inches high — a way with gold trim, and for 75 cents a golden life. The dove of peace is seven inches long, with filmy white wings and touches of gold. Looks rather like a bride, white satin birds, stuffed tightly like pouter pigeons, are adorned with gold, green and interspersed. For your wall, in a special corner, there's a heavy gold foil plaque with a low relief of a golden tree burning with fruit adornment.

But Country Mouse's pride is its collection of old - world figures, trolls and Scandinavian princesses, Samsa and Lady Godiva! These painted wood figures range from 89 cents to $5. Some of them follow the classic troll features with wild, rosy hair. Others are more in the Christmas tradition. And we meant it about Lady Godiva. There she is, natural, unpainted wood and rope hair.

The most delightful is a wooden Swedish Santa, with a shy smile and a one-mech puzzle — obviously the sabbler for the feast — on a leash.

A felt Christmas stocking with "Bah! Humbug!" comes from a very modern Santa. A barefooted of 5 cent dolls — hundreds of wreaths to decorate the bottom of your candlestick (even blue-green wreaths) — a Country Mouse weathervane in red and a bright red shopping bag for 10 cents in red and that's not all.

Lights are all over town. Italian lights at Country Mouse, Cummins Shop, tear-saver bulbs at Country Mouse. If you've had an accident, R. F. Johnson and Tiger are connected. Too Ambleside Gardens has miniature, and lights for outdoors. Tiger and Urken has a wildly gleaming star for the top of your tree.

FOR THE FEASTING

Or Snacking. You'll see the Christmas Little with a Farrah's round cloth with its circle of hotly and candy cane. For $1, you may have four

Calling St. Christopher

Christmas is for the children, but it's a difficult season for the adults. Sometimes in a crowded Christmas store late the other afternoon, a weary mother put down the child she had been carrying and said to him, "I just can't carry you any longer."

He was outraged at this turn of events, and began to cry. "You're going to carry me, mommie!" he wailed. "I can't carry myself."

red place-mats with snow-covered hills.

Informal meals call for Country Mouse's eight paper mats from Denmark with print rows of lighted trees, or "lilies." Happy House's paper sets show green pine or holly, and there's a paper poinsettia cloth. We like Hinkson's holiday cocktail napkin with its candles: "What a way to give."

Cummins' fabric napkins are all-over poinsettias, to match the ball-fringed cloth. Napkins at the Country Mouse, are small or large. We like the paper ones with a partridge in a paper tree, and gold-bronze against blue. Lots of paper plates here, too.

Wrapping up the whole world, it seems, Hinkson's has rolls and rolls of paper, from the kind of white tissue you use for stocking presents, to opulent sheets of gold or emerald. Boys already tied, come in every color, and there are two full racks of ribbons and rolls of paper ties.

Happy House has columns of wrapping paper, including that jeweled-kind with the twinkling designs. A Christmas stocking in this shop has spots!

Light a Taper. Candles at Country Mouse are a "specialty de la maison," as you know, and at Christmas-time the maison simply overflows. We counted 17 baskets of small scented candles, each a different scent. For $2, there's an owl's head in deep olive brown with candle-light shining through its eyes, mushrooms in various shades of blue and a candle bird with brilliant on tail and crest and a wick in his back.

Among the standard candles, we'll find five shades of green, four shades of red, and everything from tapering tapers to massive columns.

Our favorite holder is Mouse's 26-inch tall antiqued wood "stick," like some of today's newest post. It's $24.95. Another tall one to go on the floor, is slender wrought iron and a spear for one candle, $6. Berberies are two for $1, in a Country Mouse box form.

Country Mouse even has candle snuffers. You mean they want us to put a candle out?

Candles at Happy House line the wall. One has Della Robbia fruit against the white wax. Papers are boxed, six red, six white, and brandy snuffers are full of vintage candlelight. Three candles light a twining line, scene or a three-candle modern holder.

Cummins Shop places its fluted cone of a candle, five inches tall, in a brass holder, for $1.50. It tall, slim black pearl will hold a single candle and so will its curving vine leaf. Millions of shiny brass candlesticks in this shop, every size and design, including a seven-branched candlestick.

Make It A Big Candle! Nassau Interiors suggests a pair of antiqued gold candlesticks, elaborately turned, ten inches tall, and just like a six-inch cigarette lighter. Tear-drops fall from an antiqued gold wall sconce from Italy, the leaves grow in heart shapes. A dark bronze strip of metal lies against the wall and reflects the light of a single candle. Buy each of three for $25.50.

Seven candles in two straight rows with a candle at the top, light the holiday table at Viking. Here's the table.

PRINCETONIAN DIES
In Trenton Car Crash, A Leigh Avenue resident died in Mercer Hospital Tuesday at 12:15 Sunday morning of injuries he received as a passenger in a car involved in an accident on Prospect Street in Trenton.

The victim, Elvin L. Bullied, 25, 68 Leigh Avenue, had just visited a patient in Mercer Hospital, police said. He was a passenger in a car operated by Mrs. Virginia P. Ross, 22, of Skillman. Mrs. Ross was treated at Princeton Hospital for cuts and a fractured kneecap.

Mrs. Ross' station wagon was not damaged when it collided head-on with a car operated by James Trocki, 23, of Trenton. Both she and Mr. Bullied had to be picked from the wrecked car by members of the Trenton Rescue Squad. Mr. Trocki was taken to Mercer Hospital for treatment of a broken nose and face cuts.

Trenton police were forced to detain traffic for more than an hour as wreckage from the accident littered the street. The cause of the accident has not yet been determined.

HOUSE HUNTING?

This is a perfect dwelling of a house. There is a vast terrace, a swimming pool with heated and filtered water, central air-conditioning, master bedroom and bath, 2 other bedrooms and bath. The rooms are large, and the window-walls add to the illusion of space when the curtains are drawn and all outdoors seems to merge with the indoors. Naturally, since walk-to-work carpeting and the beautiful draperies help to make this house what it is, they are included in the price.

Topics Of The Town

In the Borough, Christine L. Ewing, 18, of Lambertville was injured when she was struck by an automobile while in the middle of a crosswalk. She was taken to Princeton Hospital by the driver, Theodore R. Waring, 51, Carler Road, X. Miss Ewing had complained of pain in her left wrist and hip.
Sgt. Arthur Gallant, who investigated the accident, reported Miss Ewing was crossing Spring Street from West Spoon and was halfway across when she was hit. He charged Mr. Waring with careless driving.

Three Injured. Three persons were slightly injured Saturday in a two-car crash at the south exit of the Princeton Shopping Center and Harrison Street.

The driver of one car, George J. Lennon Jr., 21, Washington Street, Rocky Hill, and his passenger, Barbara Wright, 26, 4000 Mawr, Pa., received confusion. Miss Joyce Maurer, 17, of Delanco, a passenger in the other car, operated by Duncan G. Doyle, 17, 253 Hamilton Avenue, received abrasions and had a left knee knocked out.

Mr. Doyle was leaving the shopping Center. His car was struck on the left front door by the Lennon car which police said skidded some 45 feet before making contact. Its entire front was damaged. There were no immediate charges.

TRENTON TRIO NABBED
In Parkside Drive Theft. Three Trenton teenagers were arrested in Hamilton Township last week by police there, a short time after Princeton police had sent out an alarm that they had entered and robbed the home of James S. Thompson, 45 Parkside Drive. Charged with breaking and entering was James A. Vaccaro, 19; Mark A. Ricciardo Jr., 19 and Albert J. Wingate, 18. At a preliminary hearing held the following day before Magistrate Glen B. Miller Jr., the three were released in $1,000 bail each to await action by a Grand Jury.

When arrested, they were in possession of approximately $100 in cash and silver

Shoppers Cautioned

Police Chief Peter J. McMahon has warned shoppers that this is the time of the year to exercise extra caution and keep packages locked. "To leave your car doors open when the seats are loaded with packages is an invitation to petty thieves," he said.
As an example, Chief McMahon cited the misfortune of Kendall Park woman who left her car in front of Princeton Hospital last week, leaving a number of Christmas packages on the rear seat. When she returned, the packages, valued at $35, were gone.

They had taken from several rooms in the Thompson home. Mr. Thompson was alerted to something amiss, he told police, when he returned home about 10 last Wednesday evening and noticed the living room door open and the screen door ajar. There was no sign of forced entry, according to police. The Princeton and Detective Norman Servino who investigated the theft.

While the theft was in progress, P.D. John Hammond and David Potts, on car patrol, were checking on a suspicious car parked in front of the house. Some 15 minutes later when they returned to the house, three came back, they noticed the policemen and tried to go down Road 206. When they did, they told police they had gotten out of the car.

Unaware of the breaking and entering, P.D. Hammond and Potts later learned that the car was the property of the car and its occupants.

STILL TIME TO GIVE
To Mississippi. Community response to the Princeton Freedom Center's annual appeal for food, clothing and the money to ship them south has been "very encouraging," and the Center will go out again on canvass this Saturday.
About 35 volunteers went from door-to-door in Princeton last Saturday asking for funds to pay for sending the contributions to Mississippi, and the Center is hopeful that volunteers can raise enough money to cover shipping expenses.

The central depot for donations of food and clothing is 120 Fitz Randolph Road, home of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Lockard. Contributions will be turned over to the Mississippi Freedom Labor Union, whose members lost their jobs when they struck for higher wages. Churches in Princeton, particularly the Unitarian and All Saints' Chapel, have sent donations and others are expected to follow. Arrangements for pick-up may be made by calling Mrs. Lockard, 924-3761. Volunteers for Saturday canvass should call Mrs. Susan Draney, 924-0955, or go to the Freedom Center, 205 Witherspoon, this Friday to receive assignments.

ZONERS TO DECIDE
On Apartment Limit. Overlooking Princeton, which has challenged West Windsor's ordinance limiting the number of garden apartments to 15% of the completed housing units in the community.

The Zoning Board of Adjustment rejected the firm's application to build 240 apartments on its 40-acre property bordering the Delaware & Raritan Canal near Alexander Road. Attorney William C. Bageot told the board on Thursday that the ordinance could be interpreted in at least three ways. He asked the board to allow his client to build at least 225 units.

According to W. Bryce Thompson 4th, Princeton realtor who is an officer in the firm, the apartments, if constructed, will rent for $175 to more than $200 a month.

Mr. Bageot claims that the ordinance was not made retroactive when it was passed on April 9, 1962, and the 200-unit Princeton Recreation Center apartment complex on Route 1 should not be considered when imposing the ordinance on Page 19

Merry Christmas to Viet Nam

On Christmas Day, American soldiers, sailors and marines in Viet Nam will be on the alert — just as they are every other day of the week. Send a Christmas card to one of them (or more, if you can) just to let him know you wish him well. This is a time when a little means a lot.

It needn't be anyone you know, although maybe you do know a few of the young men listed below. They are servicemen with homes, or friends and relatives in the Princeton area.

Hurry — you'd better send that Christmas card right away. It only costs a cent — the regular domestic airmail rate — to send a Christmas card to Viet Nam.

ACES ARE BULLETS, a joker is a bug, and the four of clubs is the devil's bedpost. Ann-Margret learns from gambler Steve McQueen in "The Cincinnati Kid," at the Playhouse and Garden Theatres this week.

News Of The Theatres
Chase of tickets.

PLAYHOUSE AND PRINCE: Cincinnati Kid (now playing at the Prince) returns to Playhouse on Friday) Here is the third of three attempts by Steve McQueen to capture the gambler spirit of America's rural youth.

In this film, as in "Baby the Rain Must Fall" and "Soldier in the Rain," he plays essentially the same character—a southern boy from the wrong side of the tracks with more dreams than talent.

The occupations in these films—card shark, professional soldier, guitar-twangin' blues singer—are part of the hero mythology of the deep south.

In "Cincinnati Kid," McQueen is a depression boy with a far-fung reputation as a stud poker player. His faith in his ability never wavers, even when the aging king of the stud poker circuit, Edward G. Robinson, arrives in New Orleans for a game with a local rich boy, played by Rip Torn. He agrees to a marathon play-off. Exalted in the drama are Tuesday Weld, Ann-Margret and Karl Malden.

The film is all McQueen. No one else among actors has the pat-like grace he shows in his tight scenes, and no one else gets across the survival instinct of the underdog quite so well. The screenplay by King Linder Jr. and Jerry Southern is based upon Richard Jessup's best-selling novel.

GARDEN: An Evening with the Royal Ballet (Playhouse through Thurs., children's matinee on Sat.) The brilliant dancers Rudolph Nureyev and Margot Fonteyn filmed in wide-screen and color from the stage of the Royal Opera House in Covent Garden, London. The film is in four sections, with highlights from "La Valise," "Les Sylphides," "Sleeping Beauty," and "Le Corsaire." This is a "photographed record" of the work of some extraordinary dancers—and as such is a marvelous thing to see.

MICKER ONE (now playing) In essence, this is a variation of the parable told by Kafka in "The Trial," in which a man is accused of a mysterious crime by unidentified persons and is made to bear a great burden of guilt.

Warren Beatty is quite impressive as the free-wheeling night club owner who wakes up to find that somebody owns him body and soul. His creditors are gangsters, he realizes, but he cannot learn their identity.

Terrorized, he flees from Detroit to Chicago, where he first hides as a mental in a parole. But he can't resist making a booking into a small joint. The word spreads and the cocaine addicts himself for a showdown.

Newcomer Alexandra Stewart is the lonely girl who falls in love with him, Hurd Hatfield is the menacing night club owner determined to have Beatty in his floor show, Jeff Cober and the Franchot Tone are enigmatic underworld figures.

A sense of nightmare hangs over the film. Some of the scenes are on the scary side, but the jazz score of Eddie Sauter is especially haunting.

BUSINESS In Princeton

UNITED THEY STAND
For Research Firm, Gallun & Robinson, Inc., an advertising and market research firm, has moved into a newly-constructed three-story office building in Princeton Research Park. The firm's operations had previously been split between two buildings in the center of Princeton.

The new office, on a five-acre plot next to 575, Fifth Street, is a 16,000 square-foot structure designed by Burton F. Weisbecker of Princeton. It was built by S. T. Peterson and Company, Inc.

Part of the increased space permitted the installation of a newly-created Data Registration and Distribution Center which contains the results of tests of more than 60,000 national advertisements and 10,000 television commercials cross-indexed and catalogued.

NEW HOME IN RESEARCH PARK: All operations at Gallun & Robinson are now concentrated under one roof in this new building in Princeton Research Park.

COUSINS CO. SOLD

To Petrus Bakers Owners, Cousins Co. Inc., liquor store at 51 Palmer Square West, has been sold by Mr. and Mrs. Santo Vietino to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crandall, who for 32 years operated Nilly Bakery on the Square.

The Crandalls have announced that Byron Crandall, formerly New Jersey manager for Charles Krug Wines, will serve as vice-president and general manager. John R. Burbridge Jr. is a new director of the company.

FREE PRESS PRAISED

At Dedication Ceremonies, Princeton University professor Julian P. Boyd, editor of "The Papers of Thomas Jefferson," applauded the importance of a free colonial press in his speech Friday at the dedication of the Princeton University's new point, the Henry A. Laughlin Building.

"It was this free and pervasive press," Dr. Boyd said, "that made the essential difference between the enduring vitality of the American experiment and the tragic failures elsewhere." He added that a free press today "is charged with the most exalted of all forms of planning, that of exploring the endless frontiers of knowledge."

The Henry A. Laughlin Building, located on the Princeton Pike, is named for the retired president of the Ithaca Millin Company and a former president of the press. Mr. Laughlin attended the ceremonies as guest of honor.

The new plant contains new offset, bindery and automatic typesetting equipment in addition to a warehouse and shipping department. The publishing division of the University Press will remain in the Scribner Building adjacent to the Princeton University campus.

Selling The Dream

"A flight of wild geese feeding at the water's edge, the Princeton crew skimming at will, and, in December the graceful silhouette of skaters against the snow." It was won a second place award for Edmund Cook & Company in the classified real estate advertising competition sponsored by the New York Times.

The advertisement, which appeared in the October 28th issue of TOWN TOPICS, was written by William E. Stewardson, who won a similar award in 1961 for a TOWN TOPICS ad. He received the award on Saturday at the convention of the Real Estate Boards of Atlantic City.

"We had terrific results," Mr. Stewardson recalls. "Town Topics has great pulling power."

Professor Richard Wilhelm and Dr. Daniel E. Rosner were among nine U. S. scientists who visited Princeton as part of an exchange program of the U. S. and Russian Academies of Science. The Russians spent three days in Princeton during their one-month visit to the U. S.

Prof. Wilhelm, chairman of the chemical engineering department in Princeton University, and Dr. Rosner, aerodynamic research scientist of AeroChem Research Laboratories, Inc., discussed mutual research interests in the field of electrode reactions and entertained the visitors in their homes. The other cities on the Russians' tour included New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Berkeley, Cleveland, Minneapolis, Urbana and Baltimore.

The functions of an Oriental rug are not new, but have been recognized since time immemorial. In every age and era, in every culture and on every level, the middle-class, the poor have sought out this finest in floor covering to grace their homes, for the home has ever been the symbol of stability, peace, quiet and repose and the Oriental rug the symbol of beauty, color, harmony, charm and durability.

Oriental rugs survive the fads and fancies of home decorating because many homeowners regard their Oriental rug not as a "floor covering," but as "floor paintings," and works of art. And why not? The great masterpieces of Michelangelo, Cellini and Botticelli are admired more today than ever before. TRUE ART IS ALWAYS IN STYLE.

Oriental rugs are especially fine with modern furniture, providing a warmth which modern interiors frequently lack. If you are starting from scratch with a brand new home and new furniture, a fine Oriental is the ideal starting point for planning the whole interior. The range in the Oriental is so wide that you can usually stress your favorite color scheme. If you must reconcile the family heirlooms, wedding presents, isolated pieces of furniture, already placed in the room, a fine Oriental is timeless Oriental. Every Oriental rug has a fundamental note of beauty which establishes harmony among warring elements.

A grain chute he was repairing, lured against a 26,000-volt power line on the edge of his property on the Princeton Junction Road. Subsequently, Mercer County jury awarded his widow Mrs. Melba G. Mey, $200,000 in damages. The defendant was the Public Service Electric and Gas Co.

The utility company appealed the verdict, although it did not contest the amount of the award. The sum at the time was the largest for negligence awarded by a jury in this county.

Unity or Division?

To the Editor of Town Topics: Residents of the two Princetons have reason to be grateful for TOWN TOPICS for stimulating discussion of the two town halls now being planned. This is a subject on which each citizen can do something directly.

As your Mailbox has shown, there are many who oppose cementing in stone and glass the division between Borough and Township. They believe the effort expending in the Dilley Report should be reflected in further joint co-operation, as in a single municipal building.

They would like to see reflected in tax rates the quarter-million dollar saving that joint construction of a single building would permit. They should raise their voices loud and clear.

that some $250,000 could be saved in construction costs alone if one building served the two municipalities.

One Town Hall Advocate.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of an open letter from the League of Women Voters to Mayor Patterson.

As you know, the League of Women Voters of the Princeton Community has long supported consolidation of the Borough and the Township as one government unit with integrated planning and development. While the time for such consolidation may not yet be ripe, we do object to action being taken which will be detrimental to this goal. Therefore, we write you and the Borough Council to reject on December 14 the ordinance which has been introduced concerning financing a new Borough Hall.

Construction of two municipal buildings, one for the Borough and one for the Township, does not evidence sound planning. Since both municipalities need larger quarters, construction of two new buildings will result in duplication of effort and far greater expenditure for both.

According to the Dilley Report, savings of $50,000 annually during the period of amortization would result from the construction of a single municipal building.

The Health Departments, Planning Boards and Housing Authority, all of which may become joint operations in accordance with the recommendations of the Report, would gain immeasurably from being housed in a single building. The Report also recommends that the Joint Civil Defense and Disaster organization be under the same roof as the Police, Health Department and administrators, but if there are two sets of headquarters, where could Civil Defense most logically rest? In short, a single municipal building would save both communities money and stand as a symbol of cooperation between them. The League hopes that it is not too late for you and Mayor Schaefer and respective governing bodies to explore further the possibilities of construction of a single municipal building.

Send the Hecklers Overseas.

To the Editor of Town Topics: Thomas Jones, U. S. Navy, suggests in a recent letter Town Topics, Nov. 29 that those who protest the action in Viet Nam be drafted. Since we are in the minority, it would be more advisable, it is more to draft those who are for the war there.

I was in the last war and the letter from Mr. Jones re-

By Archimedes (Bernard)

Many women wonder if surgery could have any adverse effect on the outcome of permanent waves. The question of permanent waving in relation to surgery or other physical conditions revolves primarily around one factor—the condition of the hair fiber at the time of waving.

Various ailments may or may not affect hair fibers. But, if the hair has been adversely affected by illness, surgical shock or other health factors, it is evident to the experienced beautician through appearance and "feel." If the hair is limp, dry, lifeless or otherwise subnormal, it will not provide a proper foundation for permanent waving. Re-conditioning is then necessary, with waving delayed until the hair proves satisfactory.

For all types of hair problems we have solved beautifully at TAVERNWOOD BEAUTY MANOR, 69 Palmer Square West, or call 924-3863.

ments me of the arguments used then to justify that war. It seems that people who back wars always use the excuse of "protecting freedom" while at the same time suggesting the taking away of the freedom of opinion.

I am sure that it would be very easy for Mr. Jones to ask for a transfer to Viet Nam if he feels so strongly about it, am sure that if all the hecklers of those who burned draft cards were themselves to be exported overseas they could put their anger and disgust to good use, assuming of course that they really believe it is a good use.

In cardplaying there is an apt expression, "put up or shut up" and it would be well for the rest of us if we drafted only those people who are for the war or any action that means combat. It would be complete a war if we are to believe their protestations of patriotism.

Anyone who, viewed the calibre of hecklers on television, should not feel that these ardent patriots who courageously shouted invective should take much less time to sit the cardholders, might cut down the days of the war if there would be no necessity for briefing the men on the "reasons" for the war.

Also, if we drafted only those who are for the war, there would be no necessity for briefing the men on the "reasons" for the war.

In my opinion, however, if we are to draft at all, we should draft supplies, munitions and other implements of war, rather than manpower. Take out the profits and you'll soon put an end to all conflict, and we would really have freedom. Who's going to protect us from these proliferators?

Second Mercury Vote Favored.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

My first reaction after the school merger defeat was a hushed urge to declare our independence from those Tories in the Borough. It was particularly humiliating to have been treated once again like overcasted stepchildren, and infuriating for our citizens to have been described as interlopers. This seemed all the more unjust when one looks at history, and remembers that the Quaker settlement at Stony Brook, in the TOWN-SHIP, was instrumental in bringing the university here.

The cold fact is, however, that WE CAN'T VERY WELL DECLARE OUR INDEPENDENCE FROM OURSELVES. It is all very well when an ocean walls between, but here in this town we keep rubbing shoulders. Indeed, we have stood together on so many vital issues, like our new Joint Library for a shining example, that, if we could peel self-interest under the table, it should not be impossible to sock things out to our common advantage.

When I heard the suggestion of the possibility of another merger vote, taken in the light of recent developments. It seemed like the One Last chance. The happy fact is that their system, new elementary school notwithstanding. Let us by all means push for it, because I am convinced that with a more positive attitude than that with which we strided forward instead of one back. Indeed we here in the Township can build a fine complete school system, second to none, but what about our friends in the Borough? I know too many who are dismayed at the pros-

Non-Flooded, Free

Free, unflooded water will be made available from the Princeton Water Company to anyone who wants to take a container to the Stony Brook plant and turn on the faucet.

Several speakers announced this week that when fluoridation goes into effect in indoor use without fluorine will provide water in the house. The Stony Brook plant is charged off Alexander Street. Motorists should make a sharp turn into the section of Alexander that was cut off by the re-alignment, and continue along the dirt road, following signs.

The Juvenile Conference Committee consists of Thomas F. Cook, Princeton attorney; Mrs. Rowan Boone, founder of the Youth Employment Service with many years experience in working with young people; Mrs. Edwin L. Lott, guidance counselor at Witherspoon Street School and Alfred Korngay, active in civil rights in Princeton for many years.

Also, Irving Newlin, president of PAHR; Kenneth Mitchell, principal of Princeton High School; James Kopliner, former juvenile officer on the Borough police force; Raymond F. Male, former mayor of the Borough; Mrs. Marie Coan, board member of the Mercer County Mental Health Association and St. Paul's PTI and newly-elected Borough tax collector and Jack Yost, associated for many years with civil rights organizations within the Presbyterian Church.

MASONS ASK VARIANCE

For Meeting Hall. A special permit to build a meeting hall on Route 206 at Ewing will be sought by the Princeton Masonic Temple Association before the Township Board of Zoning Thursday, December 16, at 8 p.m.

The property is bounded by 700 feet of land on Route 206 and about 200 feet on Ewing. Since it lies in a residential area (R-2), the Masons must have a special permit for a meeting house.

The Zoning Board will also take up again the request of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints (Mormons) to build a chapel on Mercer Road across the Stony Brook bridge in the Burrell development.

A request by Princeton University for yard-light variance for the math-physics building will also be heard (see "This Is Princeton.")

HEADMASTER NAMED

By Day School. Douglas O. McClure, headmaster of Rockland Country Day School, has been named headmaster of Princeton Day School, effective July 1.

The Board of Trustees announced Mr. McClure's appointment this week. Princeton Day School has been with-out a headmaster since the resignation of Thomas B. Hartmann on March 24 of this year. An administrative committee with Mrs. J. Richardson Dill—Continued on Page 46 with adequate representation from our Negro citizens, were out BEFORE THE VOTE a plan of pupil distribution which would be agreeable to those concerned, exactly as if the merger were already accomplished. It is only fair to let everyone know what he may expect before he casts his ballot.

It is true that we should be asking the devoted members of our school boards to give many hours to a gamble. But, happily, we have in them an unusual group of men and women who have indeed heard the ticking of the clock.

Quick Police Action

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Princeton Township residents may well be proud of their police patrolmen. In a current incident, they, with aid from county patrolmen, were most competent in putting together evidence that led to arrest and confessions of burglary on the part of three youths from Hamilton Township.

The arrests were effected in about 30 minutes from the time the burglary was reported.

Particular credit is due Detective Serrin, and Patrolmen Hammond, Spillane and Potts.

Is Your Cloud Lined with Teflon?

If every cloud has a silver lining, every pan is lined with Teflon or why else is it under your Christmas tree? Bob Lang, R.P. Johnson's Electrical Showroom, Lancer Hardware in West Windsor, Urken's on Witherspoon Street, Rorer's in Hopewell—all of them are reeling with non-stick Christmas presents.

"You know, we even have a Teflon-coated iron!" says Bob Lang in wonder. If you buy a dishwasher at Bob Lang's this Christmas, you get a five-piece Teflon-lined ocassware set for only one dollar more. It has a meat-broast pan, an oval casserole with glass lid, a round one with dill, a baking pan (oblong) and a baking pan (round). Is that free?

Urken's electric frying pans are Teflon-coated and West Windsor has a no-stick surface with a different name but the same results.

Lancer is showing Weaver and Mirror Teflon-lined pans, with a new one this year: an angel-food cake tin. Rorer, cookie sheets, bread-board (that's there's a gift for the pie-maker!) Urken's has those, too, and in addition, heavy-duty Magnalite Wagner Ware with black Teflon lining. Buy the Dutch oven, a French Chef frying pan or sauce-pans, all as sturdy as the cook herself.

Urken's Presto electric frying pan is Teflon lined and so is a waffle-iron, to keep Sunday breakfast temperate. For Rorer's, the Teflon man, brought a Sunbeam frying pan and that Super Sunbeam with the high dome for pig-meat-laced chickens. Use one is $26.95.

(Bob Lang also has a Teflon ironing-board cover, but who wants one of those on Christmas Eve? Get it for her birthday.)

shape, or the Commodore II (there's a name for a flash-light) which is terribly snappy. Tiger asks $9.95.

Urken's has wrapped for you an electric knife, and electric cup-opener and an electric servo-driver complete with vodka and orange juice. The Rorer favorite is Urken's cordless carving knife with re-charger rack.

Johnson advises an electric knife, too, and so does Bob Lang. The Johnson show-room displays re-chargable flashlight and cigarette lighters (What does "rechargeable" mean in terms of credit cards, or wonder?).

Sunbeam's double-header razor cut such a swath with Bob Lang we almost got a free demonstration. It's $24.98 in the Shopping Center store.

Oh, on Alexander Street, and Cunningham, in Lambertville, are Wilkinson Sword pens, and they will press upon you a new Wilkinson edge, a safer printer or a tree sealer. For his office or workroom, get him a portable television set from Bob Lang maybe the sleekly masculine Westinghouse with its black glass front that keeps you from being watched by a blindly vacant "TV eye." Bob Lang's price is $179 for the 19-inch. Small radios, transistors probably, or clock radios, will remind him when to come upstairs for lunch. Tiger glazes the Channel Master from $9.95. Bob Lang and Van Zandt like the most and business-like appearance of the transistors.

IDEAS FOR THE HOUSE

Lamp? Table? Ashtray? Some of the most imaginative home accessories you'll find this Christmas are at the new Nassau Interiors showroom. A collection of Japanese shallow bowls is particularly noteworthy.

Done in pewter, they have weight and substance, even when they're only three inches across. In size, they range up to five or seven inches. In design, they are probably one of a kind, in traditional Japanese and Chinese patterns.

Please don't use them for ashtrays—much too attractive. For ashtrays, there are modern glazed shapes in nests of three for $9.95, the glaze dark and round like a coconut shell, the inside bright with turquoise or orange glaze.

Fun the Fire. A gold fire-place pen fan will hide your burned-out Yule log, a seven-inch brass key paperweight will hold Christmas bills. And if you want something larger, Nassau Interiors provide a gold framed mirror, not antiqued like so much of this Christmas, but clear gold, shaped in oval, or oblong and designed to stand like an easel, or hang from the wall, perhaps by a gold ring. These mirrors are two plus feet tall.

Brune's mirrors are many-sided, many-shapes, framed in rattles of gold and gilded to fit into bare places on the wall. Most are about six to 10 inches, with a top price of $20.

A small antique globe of the world, in aged browns and russets, is really a table-topper. $22.50. Remove it from its spindle and you find the zodiac on a four-inch wooden plate. For other tastes, Brune has a Bavarian ashtray with interlaced a-flutter on white, $2.50.

A triangular modern bellows for a modern fireplace is Viktor's contribution. Its magazine rack is a deep one with bright modern fabric on each side. And those colored glass Viking globes? Fill a basket with several.

Country Mouse lights your fire from a log; a gay box of matches that costs $2.25, for 50 cents, there are minute matches in cheerful boxes.

Lift the Lid. Florentine boxes are still popular—Stone, Cummins, and Brune all have them. Box fanciers will browse for hours among Princeton Decorating's collection of painted Austrian boxes: round, oblong square, painted in peasant primaries and fresh as a mountain morning.

This year, there's an umbrella stand to match, and a plant in a blue cotton cover, stuffed fit to burst, and festooned with little felt posies. She or he has a pink and orange felt ears and gingham patches on each thigh-bone.

If you're amuse you and Price is no object when the heart is in the right place. Here's a list to match up with your Christmas budget:

30c. A white mug with blue polka dots for Daddy's coffee break. Lucar Hardware.

75c. Terry hot-dish mitt with vegetables printed on it. Parkour.

$1.98. Pop set jig-saw puzzles give you a hamster, a hot dog or a pecker, neatly packed into a can. Happy House.

$2.50. White matte plastic servers with squared off ends have green four-leaf clovers for decoration and for luck. Buy two for salad servers. Viking.

$3. A circle of mirror for that empty wall space is framed delicately with gold. Brune Interiors.

$8.00. A foiled brass cigarette box is a tidy five inches long, enamelled on top in the modern manner, nicely weighted with a good heft. Cummins.

$10.00. Fruit knives from Norway have white plastic handles and steel blades. They look like a seagull in flight. Four for $10, or six for $15. Dishwasher-proof. Courant.

$14.98. Copper chafing dish, lined, has a brass stand and a 2½ quart capacity. Handle is fruitwood and so is the stand. (A small tuckelle matches, for $8.98.) Thorpe West Windsor.

$19.95. Bull-dog jack can lift anything you've got to hold. Van Zandt's.

$35.00 Oriental rug in the Chinese style, is done in cream and blues. Roz Mart.

cows, do not, Princeton Decorating has a ceramic oval pencil holder with leopard spots and buckled belt around the outside. It matches an ashtray with an etched leopard to cradle a cigar into.

P. Decorating's barbed globe wall box is a beauty, with its velvet lining. It dates from Charles X. The Venetian bucket dates from — well, you know Venetian. And the wicker baskets with the diamond back (yes snake!) cover dates from a hunting expedition in to smotherby's backyard. We prefer the walnut magazine rack with four compartments, and nicely aged spindles.

Silver Shop hopes you'll consider brass andirons with four-inch globes atop, and two preeding feet. How that brass "dreams" A mirror with antiqued brass scrolls has real antiquing. The mirror is applied with a brush. The Sheffield picture frame has a leopard motif with claws and feet.

Needle, Needle. Mirrors on the wall again at Ivy Manor. Here they are sometimes mixed with walnut shal-not shelves. A standing ash-tray in toile is a good smoking present. Mother will want that wooden bucket with its upholstered pin cushion seat and its sewing compartment inside.

Rat Mart has pecky walnut plinths with antelope figures, like six dancing nudes, an eagle, or a matched pair consisting of Greek figures at fountain and brazier.

Miniature brass trivets are new at this shop. They are priced from $1.80 to $3.50 and some have quite outlandish the "miniature" category. "Kleins Don't Lost — Cookie Do" is the motto on one. We'd debate the premise, but that's another story.

Happy House packs a hunk with two separate locked compartments. "His," "Hers," but they're together in a leather carrying case so maybe the boys don't fight. If you have an elderly card — playing friend, how him Happy House's peek with the GREAT big sunburst.

Home Decor invites you to use its giant floor pillows, perhaps the one like cow-hide, or the sofa. Smaller pillows to toss here and there, begin with the intense little fellow in red velvet with olive scrollwork pattern and olive-wood fringe and continue to a teen-age delight in just plain old calico. Like that cylinder bolster of wide-wide velvet embroidery? So do we!

While you're reclining, listen to Stone's Swiss music box, the one in hand-carved wood, barely touched with niel color. $2.50; or the white beech angel music box. $5.

Brune's music box is a gently turning angel, antiqued gold, for $5.

But our favorite surprise present is the fire engine, fire engine, if you please, in Stone's It costs a dollar.

Who Hews? For real hearth-and-home families, give the Tote Cart from Bowden's fireplace shop. It's a wood carrier like a wheelbarrow, made of black sheet metal. Knocked down. It's $15.95. Set no. $17.50. Hand wrought Swedish steel fireplace sets at Bowden's have a very-silver look and come in flat, curled designs. Mediterranean or Spanish style fireplace tools combine twists of wood with gold filigree top.

Figures to set on tables or hang on wall seem unusually popular this year. Start with Nassau Interiors' huge statue of mother and child, dark and warm, and then look at Courant. Norse's hand-carved seagull figures, a foot tall and life-like as a storm at sea.

Viking has a "charge" bull which is a single sweep of walnut, $19.95 and roughly done. Norwegian carvings of mythic erosa and trolls, all garishly painted and not for every taste. We prefer Viking's Kenya animals carved with affectionate attention to detail, or the stylized forms of domestic carvings. These are elongated figures—deliciously so in the case of a deer, amusingly so in the case of pelican and sculling cat. Priced around $8-11.

Powerful and dark — that's the splendid iron horse, nine inches high, at Princeton Decorating. A ceramic spandrel from Cybis is different, but equally authentic, and some delightful Austrian ceramic birds are authentic as Audubon and priced modestly at $7.50 and $9. The wren is a particularly winning little figure.

But the best bird pictures are the real ones. Cunningham's Nursery has a birdfeeder with a glass platform so that two birds can eye each other while they dine.

Rule, Britannia! The Silver Shop has a colored lithograph of Queen Victoria on which the sun will never set, and Princeton Decorating has an encaustic painting of jarring flowers, seen close-up in riotously happy color. A mirror from the 18th century at Princeton Decorating shows a wide-eyed lass with low bosom and high collar, surrounded by a weathered frame. $150.

Contemporaries will choose Viking's paintings on linen. (Continued on page 26) crown of leaves enclosing its electric candle.

In between, Nassau Interiors shows a table lamp with Chinese ceramic base in garnet and gold against oyster white, a willow green porcelain lamp with game birds on its modestly proportioned base, and an oak green lantern lamp with stained glass panels.

A contemporary den would be pleasantly illuminated by Nassau Interiors' single gull carved of wood, standing alert against the thin shaft which supports the shade and light fix, but the bird alone, if you don't need a lamp.

Bronze, narrow and tall forms the base for another Nassau Interiors lamp, this one with Chinese scroll work and a black-edged bronze shade. For candles, the store suggests an Italian candlestick in black bronze and gold with immovable twining leaves and room for five candles, three of them making a bay at the front. It's 36 inches tall, $75.

Remember Tiffany's Viking?
Tiffany lamps hang from the ceiling. Viking's Danish lamp shows the light through panels of colored glass. Bruce's high-intensity light is exactly like a microphone. Bruce's lead crystal lamp base, worked with silver, gleams like the evening star. 24 inches. $60. The same shop has a Continental soldier lamp: Second Maryland Infantry, sir! Chinese porcelain lamp from $15 at The Orient Shop.

may have butterflies against white porcelain. Japanese lamps here are rice paper and wood or bamboo in solid geometric shapes. Some look like Japanese screens.

Princeton Decorating uses an absolutely clear glass bottle in a solid amber for a 20-inch lamp base, and Cummings lines up a row of little apothecary jars with flowers painted on them.

Jay Manor turns to a boy's room or a den, and turns on a covered wagon lamp, a locomotive and the Robert S. Lee — what you've been waiting for. All are very sturdy and beautifully detailed.

It doesn't light up and we're sure now how accurately it tells time, but how about Princeton's beautiful, the real one 15 inches tall, for $87?

Table Talk. Is this your year for an interesting little table? Nassau Interiors arranges nests of tables like spokes in a wheel, and then invites you to forget "little" and look at the library table in distressed finish with center drawer and two side drawers in inlay design of squares, and carvings on the front, for $218.
Rug Mart has a stool-table. The stool is on top, and Bruce has those step-downs which are either tables, stools, or plant-holders. Jay Manor has good old cardboard boxes you can lead to a friend and never stop. So buy another: from $9.95 Princeton Decorating is fascinated by a muffin-stand in bamboo from Victoria's day. It's four feet tall, a foot square with three shelves, and is still a great shape. The shop asks, "Why not use it in the bathroom for towels?"

Perhaps the towels came from Stone's or Home Decor where Philadelphia's Pennsylvania Dutch figures against a garboarded tan, are big and new this year.

Stone has boxed Martles. Large towels and these gilly filigertippers like a cavalcade with a white satin pooler, or raspberry fur with pink velvet birds — you know.

White bath sheets, 72 inches long, with tonal riding, bowling! Fibish designs are $12.98 at Home Decor. This shop decorates your bathroom with white lamp, scale and wastebasket trimmed with lace and the faintest line of gold.

Farkuh sends you off with Callaway's boxed towels in striations of blue-green or browns-white.

Blaque, in shell shape edged with gold filigree, is Stone's suggestion for a bathroom soap dish. For a country bathroom, there's white plastic with violets, for tumbler, tissue holder. We like, for your bathroom, Stone's mirror tray edged with gold and set with tiny crystal flowers for perfume, and the make-up mirror in white, pink or gold set iron filigree, on its easel.

Key, Men!
It's Men's Night this Friday at Clayton's, The department store on Palmer Square, a usually scented pleasantly by the lovely ladies who come to the store. Mr. Key, will take a different look at the men's evening wear, but Clayton's will not exactly clear smoke, but certainly will instead of Channel No. 5.

The occasion is Christmas shopping. The hours, 7-9 p.m. There will be informal modeling, that is, models will stroll around the store, much as they do during Clayton's luncheon fashion shows at the Nassau Inn on Tuesday. We can't guarantee what they'll wear, but Clayton's has a new lingerie department.

Ladies will be welcomed on Friday as men, by the way. After all, you have to go on to see what you can point out what you want.

Princeton Gourme and Cummins Shop will have their Orient Shop's juice set, six pottery cups in different designs, six to a box for $4.95, and Gourme's mushroom bowl in white finish porcelain with black line drawings of individual fun.

Silver Shop serves up elegance from a Gorham sterling tray, excellent weight, 24 3/4 inches long, and asks your particular attention for 12 luncheon plates, made for Bailey, Banks and Biddle with three floral gold borders on white.

Coffee from the Silver Shop comes from an English 1870 urn with ivory handle, standing 15 inches from base to spout.

Coffee from LaVake comes from any of hundreds of sets, ranging from pewter reproduce those stout little pots hold about four cups, to the most splendid sterling services.

Simplicity in design seems to be their rule. But your among LaVake's various services even the traditional ones have abandoned the ornate. Country Mouse and Happy House have reproduction pewter, and show a great deal of it. Mouse has a turret for winter stew.

tops and insides and grey-blue glaze. The design includes may be mushroom halves, neatly cut, or careful drawings of peas and carrots.
Drawings in color appear again, this time fruit on white glaze, in Cummins' crusts and matching jam jars.

Hinkson serves impromptu guests from a chocolate pot in powder blue or yellow with six mugs, $9.98 for the set.

Impromptu is the word when it comes to furniture and there's apparently enough fodder around town to sink Switzerland. Happo House Cummins Shop, Gourmet, all invite you to staine your copper or pewter any winter evening. Viking even has placemats with the recipe.

Princeton Decorating prefers artichokes, and serves them on a glazed white plate with a ceramic artichoke holding the Hollandaise.

Not sure what we'll use it for, but we like Silver Shop's tea caddy on legs, with a crown on top and little handles. Cule as he is turning to gold and Orient Shop, we acquire a gold enameled which stacks in reverse smallest ones on the bottom.

Linea and Silver. You've set your table in homespun cloths from Parkhouse or Cummins, or Country Mouse's Swedish print of birds and leaves in purple and olive on white linen mats.

Stime's "linea" mats are plastic, but the linen cloths are linen. For $110 you may have Stime's Irish linen cloth about 3 yards long, hand-embroidered in Madras, the $65 Madras set of eight placemats and eight napkins in.

If you like novelty, the best way to express your appreciation is to mention it to our ad white or eceru. Talk about an Irish room.

Irish linen, hemstitched cloths at Parkhouse come in so many colors. A cloth 64 by 84 in. is available in a variety of colors, not always easy to find, are cut-work designs, many of them. An 88-inch is $39.50.

For your diningroom, the Cummins Shop's Christmas set may be Neaua Interiors' silver chest, four feet tall, in mahogany with a saire finish, simply designed with tapered legs. It stands tall, with a square box on top. Left its lid and you find slots for your silverware. The chest is in display three drawers behind the facade. Below, there is an outside drawer $169.

This reminds us, in design and quality, of Oriental rugs from Babadour or the Rug Man. Babadour's Oriental rugs in small or large size, for Christmas giving and for the children, a Navajo rug about five feet long.

Rug Man's Super Khalas in beige and pastel, would make a bedroom rug of serenity and grace. The rich ruby and sapphire tones of the other Oriental go nicely inlaid with walnut and mahogany.

Farknough has a five-foot circle of powder blue, dusty rose and cream, delightfully from nine for a girl's room. Turkish and Persian rugs in this shop come long in runners, or oblong for big rooms. India and Pakistan are the names here, but Italy sends a pistol rug, only $17.50 for a 4 x 6.

For the children, Mr. Farknough shows many Poppin's Bambi, Donald Duck, Mickey Mouse and two series from Snow White, all in 4 x 5 playroom rugs. And a black Nurdan rug see one before! We hadn't.

Home Decor's children walk on old-fashioned automobiles, worked into soft area rugs. A real nursery rug is white, with those Storyland figures.

Like to Cook? Out in the kitchen, we're plugging in Bob Lang's new Boston Blender, the one with the big blade that crushes ice without an extra ice-crusher attachment.

It stands on a fax box and comes off to be a pitcher with wide base for easy cleaning. Holds up to six cups and has a tap marked to be a two-ounce measure. A dial on the handle means you don't have to consult the cookbook each time you use the blender. It's $29.95 at Bob Lang's discount price scale.

Lucer Harker brews your tea in a new six-cup Pyrex pot with unique brewer for loose tea. It's a nice round teapot shape for $6.95.

Lucer, Rorer's and Uken's all have Corning Ware and the new piece this year is the beautiful tray with its gradle flower has "Menu-ette" set of Corning ware.

Revere, our old friend, is not going to be shoved aside and this year there's Revere's "Designer Clump" of copper, core steel. It has a flatter look than the standard Revere, and hence a greater cooking area.

Gourmet has been busy all this time with the Champagne teak table, chrome prater, round in shape with a knob top for mugs. Also want to grate cheese.

Cummins' slices it thin on the tile embedded in a walnut piece, the one with the long for crackers and the little knife.

Happy House has more big wooden salad bowls and little odd-shaped salad bowls than you could scoop in a million years. They're on the wall with the salt-peppers and the counters.

Fm Lorbeer, Viking has a stand with fat jars for Kummet, Lorbeer, Paprika, Curry and Pfeffer. That's what we said. Each jar has a design of stylized herbs, and a wood stand. The jars are in top. Nommia, Poppa and Baby, the "Familian Peppar" hold salt, pepper and pepper and ask Viking for a translation. Amusing, nutery! It gives $9.95 for set.

Hinkson's hangs a date slate on the wall to keep you from forgetting Cub Scout meeting. Viking hangs butter molds on the wall. Gourmet holds its tray in a Swedish holder. strapped with different patterns. How about blue and green with a snowflake design and a bright blue Italian plastic tray?

You know what we've left you in the kitchen, don't you? Because next week, our last, we'll take you to the food and drink stores and tell you what you can buy in the way of bar supplies. On a diet? Forget it!

PREFERS SALES TAX TO INCOME TAX: Elmer Moore, campus policeman, would rather see a sales tax than a state income tax which Governor Hughes has said he will seek. For Mr. Moore's reason, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: What is your reaction to Governor Hughes' statement that he will seek a graduated state income tax?

Where asked: Palmer Square

Elmer Moore, Pennington-Lawrenceville Road, campus police: Personally, I'd rather see a sales tax. That way everybody pays. Those passing through the state and people staying here temporarily would also have to pay and I imagine this would run into a tidy sum.

David W. Hlrat, Rocky Hill, associated with Princeton University: I think under the circumstances, it's the only choice he had and it is a wise one.

Miss Betty Grant, Plainsboro, secretary: I don't like it. I've visited other states which have a lot of taxes — Pennsylvania and New York — and I don't know, I just think we've gotten along okay without them. I think New Jersey is a prosperous state. I don't think we need it. We have enough taxes.

Robert Kaplan, Sayreville, architect: I think it's an excellent idea. It puts the burden of taxation on people who can afford to pay by means of graduation, where a sales tax affects those who can least afford to pay. I think it's a good idea. In fact, I feel it is the best solution possible for the tax problem.

Mrs. Lena Collins, Trenton, secretary for Princeton insurance agency: If it's the only way the state can get some money, I guess it's all right. I'd rather try to find some other ways.

Dan Sullivan, 220 Wenderover Drive, philosophy: If we have any kind of tax, I suppose I favor it. A graduated income tax is the most just; it's fairer than a sales tax.

Mebernt Lander, 186 Laurel Circle, retired, owner of Marshall's Drug Store for 40 years: If we have to have money, I'm in favor of it. I'd also be in favor of a sales tax. I feel a sales tax more or less shares the burden where an income tax taxes the man who has been successful.

Robert J. Cuneo, Freehold, drug sales: Opposed to it. I would like to see a sales tax. My understanding is that not everything would be taxed but only certain items. Under a sales tax, I think the state would benefit by the influx of persons passing through — we're a corridor state — and then our resort areas draw millions more. I understand some 40 million could be made this way just from people outside the state.

Nelson Farrington, Pennington, owner of Farrington's Music Center, Route 1: My reaction is definitely negative. For one thing, I think we have benefited from the fact that we are near the larger metropolitan on the east coast. If we duplicate their expenses, we would discourage residents and industry. It's too bad the bond issue was defeated. I think if it were tried again and promoted correctly, there is a chance of its passing. I believe if the people knew the facts and had to choose between taxes and bonds, they'd choose bonds.

Mrs. Richard Verderer, 223-A Kienbover Street, housewife: Of all possible taxes, I think this is probably the most equitable. If there's got to be one, I'd rather see a graduated income tax than a sales tax.

Robert Lynn, Lawrence Township, research psychologist: I'm in favor of a state income tax. I feel it is the best way to get the money and we have to get it somewhere. In my opinion, it's the most equitable tax base.

Roger Hummel, Hightstown Bohren's Movers: I'm for it. I feel we need the money for education and other needs. This is a good way to get it. From what I've read in the papers, it's not true. I don't want anybody's pocketbook. I think this is better than the bond issue. I have to have to pay any income tax.

Fred Balsam, Lawrence Township, controller, Princeton Inn: I'm very unhappy with it. I figure we are paying enough taxes. They claim by having a state income tax they will be able to reduce the real estate taxes but I believe it when I see it. Under current circumstances, taxes are rarely reduced. I am very much not in favor of it. I suppose it is inevitable.

VAN CLIBURN PLAYS
In Steam-Heated Gym: In the overheated expanse that sometimes is the McCarver Annex, but more familiarly known as Dillon Gym, Van Cliburn, internationally-renowned pianist, presented a recital on Sunday afternoon before an overflow audience estimated at 2,000.

The program included two interpretations of Brahms, Opus 118, Nos. 1 & 2; Beethoven's "Appassionata," the Sonata No. 6 in A, Op. 82 by Prokofiev; and Chopin's Sonata in F Minor, Op. 58. All the music offered was grand, noble, dramatic, strong and romantic.

There wasn't much contrast in the piano style as a result of during the first half of the concert this reviewer frankly had difficulty in appraising the young keyboard artist. Mr. Cliburn plays with a tremendous amount of energy and some times the balance and registration of the instrument seemed to be all out of control.

Ideas would lose themselves in the total amalgamation of smarmy, modulated by an extensive use of pedal and hard stroke keys. The interpretations on the whole seem manly, nervous and occasionally a bit over-the-top. The Beethoven "Appassionata" was a case in point. No doubt, much brilliant playing took place, but certain passages were cluttered and some of the lovely melodic ideas were given too much emphasis. The fortissimo passages often seemed strident, unclear and without spaciousness.

Following the Beethoven, the artist introduced the Prokofiev 6th Sonata with a short talk about the composer's programmatic and formal intentions. Unfortunately, this is not one of the Soviet master's better works.

The subjective and introspective elements depict the sincerity of the composer but the ideas are often banal and the harmonic structure very vague and often wandering. One can almost draw a line between the early Prokofiev and the late.

It appears that his return to Russia after years of touring the world and living in France, altered his style towards a more traditional and formal approach. His experimental period over, Prokofiev turned more towards a kind of neoromanticism that at its very best, never quite matches his great earlier works. This of course is a personal opinion. The 6th Sonata, one of the World War II Trilogy of Sonatas parallels Shostakovich's "Leningrad" Symphony. Both readings are overblown and depend heavily on their exterior programs. Van Cliburn gave what one must call a dedicated and loving performance which might indicate that his association with this score has given him more insight into the musical value than it did for those present in the audience.

The last part of the concert came after the intermission. First of all, some windows were opened and the large, spacious hall became a comfortable place to enjoy good music on a "first time that afternoon."

Secondly, Mr. Cliburn's interpretation of Chopin's mazurka, B Minor Sonata was a treasure to the ears. There was a taste in his playing, clarity and richness in his tone. The loud passages were sonically clean and the performance gave the music a sense of completeness.

The Beethoven suffered from too much detail and the whole was lost. Just the opposite can be said of Mr. Cliburn's feeling for Chopin.

The three encores, all by Chopin, were given a brevity and expansiveness most befitting these works. Mr. Cliburn played these final works with an intensity and brilliance that was a pleasure to the ears. Strong to a standing ovation at the concert's end.

TWO-HANDED STUFF SHOT: Robby Brown completes a steal, as three Army players trail him, by jamming the ball into the basket with both hands. Play helped break tight game wide open Saturday as Tigers rolled over cadets in second half for 70-19 victory. (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Bob Matthews)

SPORTS In Princeton

TIGERS HAVE BALANCE

All Starters Can Score. It is far too early to tell yet how successful Princeton's basketball team will be without Bill Bradley, but even the early games on the schedule appear to have answered one major question. In the entire absence of the All-American who averaged better than 30 points a game for them in the past three seasons, the Tigers can start a variety of combinations of five players, all of whom can put the ball in the basket.

In the absence of anyone who is likely to average better than 20 points — let alone 30 — this year, all-around scoring ability is essential. The combination of such balance better-than-average height and good defense all appear to be present in some degree this season in Dillon Gynn.

To what extent they can be harnessed simultaneously as against what may be the best balanced field the Ivy League has offered in recent years remains to be seen. Pease, Connell and Columbia are all off to impressive starts, with the latter two meeting at New York Saturday night in the Ivy opener.

A trip to Annapolis to face winless Navy is on the schedule Saturday, while an unmet undated Rutgers quiet will be here Monday night at 8.
The Scarlet has high-scoring Bob Lloyd, who averages around 25 points a game, as its chief threat and, with Bradley gone, is hopeful of trimming the Tigers. Rutgers' last victory over Princeton was recorded a dozen years ago, but in the last two or three years, the calibre of play at New Brunswick has improved considerably.

Second-Half Rallies. In its first two games against Lafayette
the floor at the intermission lid — by respective scores of 32-31 and 23-31. Each time they returned to action, the Tigers corrected early errors and rolled quickly to comfortable leads — the true mark of what a good coach can accomplish with a potentially slip squad and a bit of applied locker-room strategy.

At Easton, a sloppy first half was replaced by a vastly improved performance which saw the Orange and Black out-score the home team in the first five minutes by a margin of 19 to 3. Connecting on 37% of its shots for the evening, Princeton remained in control for the rest of the game. Four players — Don Rodenbach, Captain Bob Harlow, Ed
Hammer and sophomore John Harlow — were in double figures, while Gary Walters and Robby Brown were only a field goal away.

Army coach Bob Knight staged a slow-down Saturday night that lasted almost the entire final six minutes of the first period, temporarily setting basketball back a good 30 years. Just two points were scored by both teams during the interval while Knight defended a stall from the bench that was little more than an early admission of defeat.

The cadets came to Princeton without the services of their veteran 6-6 center, Mike Silliman, bedded down by a virus. When they erased an early six-point deficit, and fought back to a 23-all tie at the 14-minute mark, Knight signaled for the deep freeze.
With the cadets buckering a pair of free throws and Prince-on the Army throw-in for a quick dunk. Coming on the heels of similar highway robberies by Rob Brown face pictures, the action flustered the visitors sufficiently that one of their players brought the ball in-bounds by the prearranged simple expedient of walking it in, across the black line himself. The Tigers took over and promptly scored again.

What's with John Harlow? Has Princeton come up with something of a basketball rally sophomore in John Harlow, a big player who can hit steadily from the outside? He's too early to plot a consistency graph, but the 6-6 younger brother of Bill and Bob came off the bench in both the Lafayette and Army games to power in double figures and most of his field goals were from 12 to 20 feet.

His percentages were eye-catching, too seven for eight at Eastern and seven for 12 here. If Brown and Hummer stay under the boards and Harlow draws a defender of equal size out to snarl him in man-to-man play, or chide over a zone with good consistency, the Tigers' potential will be marked up accordingly.

A Tuesday night game with Villanova preceded the trip in to Navy. For results, see page 42.

IVY ACTION AT HAND

Makes Face Brown Here.

The first game of the season in Ivy League hockey will be played Saturday at 2 in Baker Rink. Brown, coming here to lunch defense of the title it hopes to keep from favored Cornell. Princeton, which entertained Army in a mid-week contest, will round out its pre-Christmas activity with a trip next week to face Boston College and Providence.

As expected, it was a rough beginning for the Orange and black and its new coach, John "Red" Wilson, with Northeastern and Boston University providing the opposition. Both of the visiting schools won by four goal margins — 6-2 and 7-3.

From the Princeton point of view, there was reason for encouragement in the fact that a number of the mistakes the Tigers made Friday against Northeastern were not repeated. The following day against a somewhat stronger B.U. contingent, in fact, the enthusiastic Princetonians had visions of a startling upset at the 16-minute mark of the opening period Saturday, when they had just taken a 2-0 lead over the heavily favored Boston skaters.

Neville Cook fired the puck into the nets, a 35-foot thrust from the left alley that found the far corner of the cage. It came seven minutes after a sophomore John Rittler beat the visitors' goalie with a backhand flip from close range.

*Unfortunately for the Tigers, however, a series of defensive lapses in the closing moments of the period coincided with Boston University's ability to turn on the power when necessary. In the final minute and 15 seconds of the round, the Terriers scored three times and remained in control thereafter. Two of the goals came when Flanders could not reach rebounds and so one was on hand to prevent B.U. from jabbing in a loose goal.

Richie got the Tigers' final goal, giving him three of the five that Princeton scored over the weekend. He skates on an all-Canadian line with classmate's Percy Peterman and senior Mike Spencer and appears to be foremost among those who will give the Tigers a steady scoring punch this season.

Defence the Freshmen. The Tigers' difficulty is likely for some time to be keeping the opposition from scoring too frequently. Problems against Northeastern and B.U. ranged all the way from faulty closing and inadequate coverage of breaking forwards to inconsistent work in the goal. The fact that play in less than 20 hours was better against B.U. than against Northeastern is cause for encouragement in the long climb upward. In contrast to the early action against B.U., the Tigers were never in real contention

Friday night as Northeastern took a quick 2-0 lead, saw it dissolve briefly on Biddle's first goal, and then broke things open with a four-goal outburst in the second round. The final period was one of those meaningless rousabouts into which both college and pro hockey occasionally deteriorate. Eleven penalties were called and on several occasions there were only eight players on ice.

TIGERS TOP CHOICE

On All-Ivy Football Team, Eight Princeton football players have been named to the All-Ivy team selected by the coaches of the Ancient Eight. Eleven men were selected on offense, 12 — because of ties — on defense, plus a punting and placekicking specialist.

Dartmouth, the 1963 champion, had seven of its players chosen. There were three each from Harvard and Brown, one each Columbia and Yale but none from Pennsylvania.

Sparkhawk New Crew Coach,
The retirement of Debra C.
"Dutch" Schoch as Princeton University's crew after 20 years of service was announced this week by R. Kenneth Fairman, Director of Athletics. He will be succeeded by Peter W. Sparkhawk, freshman coach since 1958.

Schoch, who directed the Princeton rowing program throughout the post-war era, suffered a coronary attack
while in Mexico last August.
His resignation is based on the advice of his doctors.

The popular one-time Olympic oarsman will be reassigned to other administrative duties in the University's Department of Physical Education Athletics. A 1937 graduate of Washington, he was a member of that university's crew which trained on Lake Carnegie the previous summer and won the eight-oared championship stayed under the gathering war clouds in Adolph Hitler's Berlin.

An assistant coach at Princeton under Fred Spahn, Schoch
wartime service in the Navy in 1942 and returned to accept the position of head coach in February, 1946. A year later, his crews became the first in Princeton rowing history to sweep the river against Cornell and Yale, all three Carnegie Can races on the Houstonic at Derby, Conn.

Fairman's announcement of the change included the comment:
"Princeton has been very fortunate in having such a dedicated man as Dutch Schoch in charge of its rowing program for the past 20 years. We are pleased that he will remain with us in the Department of Physical Education and Athletics where his long experience in the fields of conditioning and athletic coaching will make him no less valuable a member of our staff."

Sparkhawk from 1952 through '54 was stroke on three highly-regarded Princeton crews. In 1956 represented the United States in the Olympics at Australia. A native of Vermont, began his rowing career at Washington-Lee High School, Arlington, Va., stroking the national scholastic champion crew for two seasons.

PIHS FIVE AT EWING
In Friday Opeener, The 1967-68 version of the Princeton High School basketball team will start with a bang: the Little Tigers open their season Friday at Ewing, travel to Ashbury Park the following evening to participate in round robin tournament, and open at home on Tuesday against Franklin.

At Ewing, the varsity team will square off at 6 with junior varsity tap-off set for 6:30. On Tuesday, the varsity contest will start at 8:45 to be followed by a juvenile contest. Time for the Ashbury team named is 7 p.m.

PIHS coach Tony Barozk has paired his squad down to 12, plus a 13th player, 6-1 Bill Cusumano. Calling him his lone "clock absorber," Barozk said Cusumano will step in whenever the need arises.

Barozk's front-line dozen is headed by the captain and high-scorer, Wilbur "Scratchy" Hines. The others include Bill McQuinn, George Nick, Tom Wood, Ken Lyons, Tom Balesieri, Bruce Gunner, Richi Vole, Ed McKewen, Joe Kuley, Jim Green and Ken Nelson. Wood at 6-5 and Gunner at 6-3 are the tallest players on the squad.

Barozk has been moving his players about like a Grand Master in chess, trying to arrive at the best combination. He has not settled as yet in his first five, although it is 111 undoubtedly include Hines and Wood.

Other starters are likely to come from among McQuinn, Lyons, Mickstall, McKewen and Balesieri.

Ewing Rebuilding. Last year, in the course of a 10-10 league record, PIHS took the measure of Ewing twice, 58-32 and 64-52. This year, it may not be so easy.

The Blue Devils are attempting to rebuild their crumbling basketball fortunes under a new coach, Emil Wandzilak, former coach at Antwerp Junior High where he still teaches, started by holding a summer league, something Ewing never had before in response to the heightened spirit at the school, some 60 boys reported for the first day of practice on November 1.

The Blue Devils will be led by Dave Emann and Gary White, the only returning lettermen. Emann is a 5-8 sharpshooter and playmaker. For height the Devils will have White, 6-3, Al Worthington, a 6-4 junior and Ted Bleunt, also 6-3.

The game should be a test

Susan Valentine was given, an eighth ranking in the 14-and-under division and Laura Peterson was listed 15th in night skiing, will remain the same division. Both Debbie same as last year. Additional information may be obtained Enderby and Nancy. Wise were listed in the 16-and-under category.

Mary and Susan were also ranked second in the 14-and-under doubles division. HUN FIVE IN OPENER
Friday at Bryn Athyn, Bas will participate in the Philadelphia Gold Cup winter training program on Saturday for the sports headlines days at Willow Grove Racquet this week.

On Friday, Hun will open its basketball season at Bryn Athyn, Pa., in a Penn-Jersey league contest. In a similar opener last year here, Hun defeated Bryn Athyn, 77 to 51. The 77 points marked the highest number run up by Hun in one game for the entire season.

As in past years, Hun will break for the holiday season after the Bryn Athyn encounter and not resume until January 8 at Pennington. Its home opener will be January 12 against Solebury.

This quirk in the schedule whereby Hun plays its first game and then waits four weeks before taking to the court again has always drawn fire from the Hun coaches. The long wait forces them to start all over again to get into condition and perfect their plays, they claim.

BOWLING NOTES

Mercer No. 3 Makes Move: Mercer No. 3 moved from a tie for fourth place into a tie for first with Dutch Neck as the battle for leadership in the Tri-Country Firemen's League continued. Both leading teams, with 42 points, are followed closely by Princeton No. 1 and Perkiomen, which have 40 points each.

Ed Hughes' 247 game and 622 series led a host of high game scores. Paul Teresky rolled a 225, Gid Ireland shot a 225, and Tatum had a 219. George Kirby gained a 213. Bill Davall scored a 213 and Dave Cromwell took home a 211.

Deekers Dairy continued to run away from the field in the Three-Man Classic League as it gained three points last week for a 391-point total. Johnson Electric fell into a tie for second with Turney Notes.

Bill Penelli was the best individual bowler last week as he combined 258-184-233 games for a 673 total. Other high games were posted by Frank Maddaloni with a 232, Frank Delness with a 231, Wally Brown with a 227, Mike Pinelli with a 224 and Joe Roldano and Ernie Hunt with 223 games each.

In the Nassau League Nassau Liquors remained in first place with 48 points. Brophy's, Thorne Pharmacy and Italian A.S.C. battled it out for second but all three tied for the runner-up spot with 44 points. Cifelli Electric, last week tied for second, fell into fifth place with 42 points.

Leading individual bowlers in the league were Ed Dayton who had a 215 high game, Val Ranzillo, who had a 213 game, Tom Brophy who had a 211 game, and Alford Petrello with a 210 game. Ernie Hunt had games of 206 and 204 to help him hit an even 600 series.

In the Blue Angels Hilly League Triple C moved from third into a tie for first with the Sharks. Both teams have 12 points. The Chumps, last week's leader, fell into a three-way tie for third with the Wildcats and Tigers.

Eck's Gro's 184 game was high for the week. Tom Wood was second with a 175 game and Craig Donaldson's 173 game was good for third place.

Ivy League Merry-go-Round

Belief among football insiders at Princeton is that Bob Blackman, the Dartmouth coach who has produced two unbeaten teams and a Lambert Trophy winner in the last four seasons will leave the hills of New Hampshire for the plains of Iowa.

Less than a fortnight after piloting the Indians to a 9-for-9 season, he announced that he was considering an offer to move into the Big Ten picture. The educated guess here is that he will accept shortly, and that most of his staff will go with him.

If Blackman does depart the Ivy League, Doc Callahan of Princeton, Buff Danell of Columbia and John Yovisic of Harvard would all become the newest from point of view of service, having been named to their present jobs in 1957. With chances at Cornell and Penn and two at Yale having taken place more recently, the Ivy League has only presented the same eight men as head coaches once in the current decade.

Women's League Nassau Comover was forced to share the lead this week with Claridge Lions as both teams finished with 44 points. Maul Kieckieff remained in third place, four points behind the leaders.

In individual play Jean Peatrice rolled 65 pins over her average as she gained high ring honor for the week with a 150 effort. Irene Buccanica rolled 70 pins over her average to pick-up a 187 score. Helen Tamms likewise had a 107 game, which led her to a 493 series.

Industrious First: In action in the Night Owls League at the Princeton Bowl, Imlaytown Hazing remained in first place, with The Majors, second, and Greenwood Girls, third.

A high three-game total of 174 was captured by the Greenwood Girls, who also earned a high team game of 595. High individual three game honors went to Diane Harman who rolled a 478.

Wilma Young was credited with a high single game of 175. Other high single game scorers for the evening were Sarah Hummer's 170 and Joan Smith's 161 and Diane Harman's 163.

EXHIBITION BASKETBALL

Tiers, Stage a Brandy. A stage and fancy exhibition of the way basketball should be played was staged by Princeton in Dillon Gym Tuesday night, but you can take it from all of the 3,000 on hand that it was a lot fancier that it was played.

There would include a few lauded loyal Villanova fans, who came here with the noisy belief that the Wildcats would prove visibly superior to the Tiger Camels between the teams of Yale have been thrilling Princeton upset the Mainlanders at home three years ago, when Bill Bradley was a sophomore. Last season, Villanova carried a 61-50 triumph in the closing seconds on an exquisite jump shot by Bill Melchior.

At the end of the half Tuesday night, however, it was a lack of interest. Princeton had rolled to a 40-10 lead with some of the most spectacular rebounding and playmaking Dillon Gam has seen in or out of the Bradley era. By the end of the evening, the Tiers carried an 82-35 triumph and the decision from which all the Villanova noise had been pouring had long since become a wall of silence.

It was the last nine minutes of the first half that had the Princeton fans in an ecstasy, as stars upstart as the Tiers rolled from a mere 15-15 lead to their insurmountable 20 point bulge — scoring 22 points while holding the opposition to six. One steal after another was topped by accurate fast-break passing and a field goal—either on a set play or an impromptu basket scored by five guys who surely love to play basketball.

Much of the credit was due a 5-10 back court player who made only two points in the night but was a tremendous ballhawk and traffic cop at all.

times. Junior Gary Walters quarterbacked this team, setting a whistling pace whether defending or directing the attack, and the big guys who tower over him by eight to ten inches are reacting beautifully.

Four Tigers were in double figures, paced by Captain Bob Harlow and Bobby Bevan with 16 each. Ed Hummer and sophomore John Harlow each had a dozen, the latter continuing to fascinate with his easy, assured outside shooting in three games — all of them in a reserve capacity — in which he hit on 19 of 24 field goal attempts.

The hot shooting continued — 62% in the first half and a came average of 61%, despite the use of five substitutes for the final six minutes. The Tigers aren't world beaters, and they will meet considerably better teams than Villanova, which is suffering an off-year, but they are well on their way toward answering the question of whether they can play stick-out basketball in the post-Bradley era.

worth as chairman, has been in charge of directing the school since that time.

Mr. McClure was raised in Illinois, but attended Hotchkiss School (1943-47) graduating with highest honors. At Yale, he was majored in his soap and won his letter in swimming. He was graduated in 1951.

Following three and one-half years as a submarine officer in the Navy, he joined the staff of the Pomfret School as a history teacher. The next eight years, he taught history, served as head of the history department as Director of Admissions for three years and director of Pomfret's International Affairs Program. He also introduced wrestling to Pomfret and helped to develop it into a major school sport.

In 1958, Mr. McClure received his M. A. in history from the University of Connecticut. He has been headmaster at Rockland Country Day in Rockland County, New York, since 1963.

Mr. McClure received her B. A. degree in art from Connecticut College in 1952. The McClures have two daughters, twelve and seven, and a son who is a year and a half.

TWO YOUTHS ARRESTED

For Creating Disturbance

Borough police arrested two 16-year-old youths Saturday night who they said had created a disturbance outside Princeton High School, following a teenage dance held there.

Arrested were Edwin Williams, 71 Clay Street, and James McGowan, whose address police listed as 4 Greenwood Avenue, Kingston. Each was charged with creating a disturbance and using loud and profane language. Released under $50 bail, they are scheduled to appear before Magistrate Tama on Monday.

Police reported there had been a "slight" racial incident during the dance which had been thoroughly straightened out by the chaperones. However, word of the happening reached Williams and McGowan, who are not members of the high school, police added.

Ptl. Charles Ibaris, stationed at the dance, requested assistance when he heard of an impending "gang fight" taking place at the end of the dance. Sgt. Robert Anderson and Ptl. William Hunter arrived in separate patrol cars and made the arrests.

They reported that Williams and McGowan had tried to incite those leaving the dance and clubhouse up trouble by shouting obscenities. Several companions of Williams and McGowan were issued warnings by the police.

"COVER" HOUSE

How would you like to be the proud owner of a home sufficiently outstanding to have been a "cover house" for a leading magazine? Happily lived in since its imaginative renovation and remodeling in 1961 (and before that too, for all we know), the rambling frame house will, un-happily, be vacated by its transferred owners in the early spring. And it's much too pretty a home to be "family-less" for long.

The 4 bedrooms, 3½ bath house is particularly planned for a mixture of generations under one roof, having a well-separated first floor bedroom and bath, a paneled library with fireplace as a second living room and a marvelous full basement for more rugged fun. The entire house is impeccably tasteful, beautifully bright and absolutely pristine, from the stunning step-down living room with its three-way exposure, handsome dining room (both with sliding doors to the terrace), and superb modern kitchen with breakfast area to the lovely, welcoming master bedroom with fireplace and dressing room. And, to top it off, in our opinion the price is that Princeton rarity
— a fair one — at $74,500

WHO GETS FIRST CHANCE?

Our friends are always curious to know how we go about offering a new listing for sale. In truth, every member of our office gets his "Book" of prospective purchasers, greets the phone, and starts calling known prospects. It is for this reason that "the house that got away" (i.e., sold overnight) may be a familiar story to you. If you are tired of having your friends brag about their "super buy," do it yourself. Tell us now what you will need this year. We already know where some of the "super buys" are.

A FEW OF OUR FAVORITE THINGS

A house with a view on a hillside reposing.

A shingled Colonial with chimney imposing.

Five sunny bedrooms, two bathrooms with zing.

These are a few of our favorite things.

Where the view is, there a deck is screened up and covered down.

Though out in the country, where horses and cows's,

It's just a few minutes from town.

A snug little study with paneling piney.

Kitchen with every appliance so shiney.

Bright, spacious playroom with laundry right near.

These are a few of the things we hold dear.

When the wind blows, there're storm windows.

(A real delight for Dad)

A choice of three hearth sides for toasting your backsides

Can't help but make you glad.

Welcoming foyer with space to "goodbye" in.

Separate rooms for both living and dining.

Bright oak floors and six paneled doors.

These are a few of the things you'll adore.
